

TELLING THE TRUE STORY THROUGH FICTION:

What is the difference between nonfiction and fiction? How does it work to turn a true story or event into a fictional story? What kinds of things do you have to invent? How do you decide what parts of the true story to tell and what parts of the story to make up? We'll talk a bit about what it takes to write a novel based on a true story and then try our hand at it with a writing exercise based on a true story from our own lives.
